COMMENTARY

In June, the US Federal Reserve signalled lift off on interest rate rises as early as 2023, while President Biden gained bipartisan support for the first phase of his infrastructure bill, worth $1 trillion.

June was the fifth consecutive positive month for global equities, rounding off a strong first half of the year, where the MSCI World index rose 12.2% and touched new all-time highs. US stocks were pushed higher by the prospect of upcoming infrastructure spending, while European shares were more muted but still positive, and the Euro Stoxx 50 gained 0.6%. Elsewhere, emerging market returns were mixed and the MSCI Emerging markets index fell 0.1%. Notably the Chinese onshore market lost 2% over the month.

June was a positive month for US and European government bond prices. In corporate bond markets, investment grade and high yield bond prices were also higher in both regions. The fund rose in June helped by rising equity markets. US equity holdings led gains, followed by Emerging Market holdings. Asia ex Japan holdings lagged during the month. With growth stocks enjoying strong outperformance compared with value stocks during the month, a cyclical tilt within the fund weighed on performance. Value holdings such as Robeco US Premium and iShares Edge MSCI Europe Value Factor ETF were the main detractors to performance. Exposure to European equity holdings was increased during the month, at the expense of US equities, where we feel there is less value.

RISK AND REWARD INDICATOR

This risk indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The category may shift over time and is not guaranteed. Funds of category 4 have shown in the past a medium to high volatility. Volatility describes how much the value of the fund went up and down. The shares of a fund of category 4 might be subject to medium to high fluctuations based on the historical volatility.

The following are additional risks not covered by the risk and reward category:

Emerging Markets: Less economically developed markets can involve greater risks than well developed markets. For example, political unrest and economic downturn may be more likely and could affect the Fund value.

Counterparty Risk: The insolvency of institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments may expose the Fund to a loss.

Fund of Funds – Liquidity Risk: The Fund invests in other funds. Its liquidity depends upon those funds. If they suspend or defer the payment of redemption proceeds, the Fund's ability to meet redemption requests may also be affected.

Derivatives Risk: Derivatives are used in an attempt to reduce risk or for investment purposes. Use of derivatives could cause share prices to fluctuate which may result in the Fund suffering a loss.

Credit Risk - Bonds: Bonds are a form of loan, the value of which depends on the issuer being able to make its payments. There is a risk the issuer will fail to do so. Although the Fund generally invests in bonds with high ratings, this does not guarantee an issuer's ability to pay.

Credit Risk - Non-Investment Grade Bonds: These are bonds issued by entities considered to be more likely to default. If an issuer defaults this may result in the Fund suffering a loss.

Currency Risk: The value of the Fund may fall or rise as a result of changes in exchange rates from overseas investments. More information in relation to risks in general may be found in the KIID and the "Risk Factors" section of the prospectus.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This document does not provide you with all the facts you need to make an informed decision about investing.
